

The Corvinus University of Budapest, Institute of World Economy, is seeking to appoint three high-calibre Early Stage Researchers (ESR) to join the Marie SkłodowskaCurie Innovative Training Network on ‘Delayed Transformational Fatigue in Central and Eastern Europe: Responding to the Rise of Illiberalism/Populism’ (FATIGUE).

Application deadline: 28th February 2018

Position: Early Stage Researcher

Location: Corvinus University of Budapest (Years 1 and 3), and University College London or University of Tartu (Year 2)

Working Time: Full Time (40 hours per week)

Duration: Fixed-Term (1st August 2018 – 31th July 2021)

Salary: Annual gross salary € 23,797 (more information in job description)

JOB DESCRIPTION and APPLICATION GUIDE:

http://worldeconomy.hu/wp-content/uploads/2017/11/ESR8_1211.pdf

http://worldeconomy.hu/wp-content/uploads/2017/11/ESR9_1211.pdf

http://worldeconomy.hu/wp-content/uploads/2017/11/ESR14_1211.pdf

FATIGUE is the project of five universities, aiming to explain and interpret the transition fatigue of post-Communist societies.

Further information on the website of the Institute:

http://worldeconomy.hu/our_projects/fatigue/

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/bcevilgazd>