Official consolidated text No. 2 of the Criteria for Appointment to the Titles of University Teachers, Researchers and Associates at the University of Ljubljana

1. General Provisions

Article 1 (Purpose)

The Criteria for Appointment to the Titles of University Teachers, Researchers and Associates at the University of Ljubljana (hereinafter “UL”) regulate the conditions, criteria and the procedure for appointment to the titles of university teachers, researchers and associates (hereinafter the “Criteria”).

The Criteria define the minimum common, general and special conditions for appointment to a particular title.

The purpose of the Criteria is to ensure uniform and objective criteria for appointment to a title, which should in turn contribute to the raising of the quality of educational, research and artistic work at UL.

The member institutions of UL may, as required, also add to these conditions certain special conditions for appointment to a title in an individual habilitation field. Such special conditions for individual member institutions are approved by the University Senate on the proposal of the member institution concerned after an opinion on the matter has been obtained from the Habilitation Committee. The special conditions that have been approved are included as an annex to these Criteria.

Article 2

The appointment to a title is based on an independent academic assessment of the candidate's work and their research, artistic, technical and teaching skills.

The fulfilment of the quantitative criteria for appointment to a title is only a precondition for the application to be considered and does itself not constitute a right to appointment.

Article 3 (Annexes)

The annexes, which are an integral part of these Criteria, are:

- list of habilitation fields (Annex 1)
- annexes relating to member institutions, which include:
 - specification of those habilitation fields where it is possible to combine academic and artistic works;
 - specification of those fields in which international impact cannot be obtained or is not suitable as a measure of quality; in such fields, the works which are relevant to the appointment must be of significance for national identity and culture;
 - specification of those habilitation fields to which the category of first or corresponding author does not apply or in which it is not relevant or not evidenced in the usual way;
 - list of journals which are comparable to the journals indexed in SSCI or SCI (IF>0) or AHCI for individual habilitation fields for which the member institution is responsible;

- list of publishers which are recognized for the purpose of categorizing monographs and monograph chapters as important works or for the purpose of assessing their quality, for individual habilitation fields;
- list of indicators for international impact and the quantitative requirements thereof for individual titles by individual habilitation fields;
- any special (additional) conditions for appointment to a title for individual habilitation fields.

and

- Guidelines for the implementation of the Criteria (technical guidelines).

The University Senate adopts changes to the annexes and to the Guidelines for the implementation of the Criteria after obtaining an opinion from the Habilitation Committee. The decision of the Senate concerning changes to the annexes is adopted using the same procedure as for the Criteria and has the effect of changing these Criteria.

An application for appointment to a title counts as early if it is submitted more than 9 months prior to the expiry of the valid title. An early appointment to a title is based on a candidate's outstanding achievements as first or corresponding author, which are specified in Article 48 of these Criteria.

In order to be appointed to a title early, a candidate must fulfil the conditions stipulated in these Criteria for appointment to the requested title. Part of the quantitative conditions can be replaced by outstanding achievements.

Article 19
(Out-of-Sequence Appointment to a Title)

The provision of the previous Article on the early appointment to a title shall also be applied mutatis mutandis for appointment to a title which does not conform to the usual sequence of appointments to titles.

Article 24

The Senate of the member institution where the procedure for appointment to a title is taking place shall appoint at least three referees to assess the candidate and, in the event that the candidate has already carried out teaching work at UL, shall invite the Student Councils of all member institutions where the candidate has been teaching to provide an opinion on the candidate's work as a teacher.

Article 25
(Performance of a Trial Public Lecture)

For the purpose of preparing a professional assessment of the candidate who is seeking a university teaching title for the first time, the referees shall agree with candidate the topic and date of a public trial lecture.

The referees and the student shall, as a rule, be present at the public trial lecture in person or via electronic media. As a rule, at most one of the referees may be present via electronic media. If a referee is unable to attend the lecture, the Senate of the member institution shall appoint a replacement member.

The candidate can comment on the content of the negative assessments or the negative opinion of the Student Council within three working days of receipt.

the candidate did not provide a written response to the negative assessments or the negative opinion of the Student Council.

Article 27

The member institution forwards to the Habilitation Committee the full documentation in the following cases: the first appointment to a title or an appointment to a higher teaching or research title, the second reappointment to a title and all subsequent reappointments to a title of university teacher or research with the exception of lector. In other cases the full documentation is forwarded to the Senate of the member institution.

An appointment to a higher title in accordance with this article also includes appointment to a higher title to which the candidate has already previously been appointed but where the candidate has since been appointed to a lower title and then filed an application for reappointment to a higher title.

Article 28

If the Habilitation Committee finds that the application for appointment to a title is incomplete, it shall defer the decision on the application and invite the candidate to submit the missing evidence and documents. The deadline shall not be less than one month or more than four months.

If the candidate fails to submit the missing evidence or documents within the deadline, the University Habilitation Committee informs the Senate of the Member institution at which the procedure is underway. The Senate of the member institution shall withdraw the application.

Article 29

The University Habilitation Committee decides on the candidate's application within two months of receiving the complete application.

If, on the basis of a thorough assessment of the submitted material, the Habilitation Committee finds that it is not possible to accept the referees' opinions, it must provide a special justification of its opinion.

It is not possible to withdraw an application following the decision of the University Habilitation Committee.

Article 30

The competent body for appointments to a title decides on the appointment of a candidate to a title within 60 days from receiving the decision of the University Habilitation Committee.

If the University Habilitation Committee has not given its approval, the candidate who has requested an appointment to a higher title may, within 14 days of receipt of the University Habilitation Committee's decision on the denial of approval, apply for reappointment to the current title at the member institution and then the procedure continues as a reappointment procedure.

If the University Habilitation Committee has not recommended to the University Senate that a candidate be appointed to the title of professor or senior research fellow, the central administrative office notifies the candidate of the negative recommendation of the University Habilitation Committee. The candidate can respond within 14 days of receipt of notification of the University Habilitation Committee's recommendation. Within the same time frame, the candidate can apply for reappointment to the current title at the member institution and then the procedure continues as a reappointment procedure.

If the University Habilitation Committee has not given its approval and the candidate has not requested a reappointment, the Senate of the member institution rejects the candidate's application for appointment.

Article 31

The competent body for appointments to a title shall reject a candidate's application on the grounds of academic dishonesty or serious breaches of ethical principles relating to academic or artistic work. In such cases, the candidate may no longer apply for appointment to a title at the University of Ljubljana.

Article 32

A candidate who has not been appointed to a title for which they have applied cannot reapply for the same title earlier than one year after the rejection of their application.

5. Appointment of Visiting University Teachers and Researchers

Article 33

In order to be appointed a visiting university teacher or visiting researcher one must be in possession of a valid habilitation from another suitable university or independent higher education or research institution, or have a position at such an organization for which at least equivalent conditions are required as for a habilitation title at UL.

A visiting university teacher or visiting researcher is appointed by the Rector on the proposal of the Dean of the member institution and after an opinion has been obtained from the University Habilitation Committee.

The proposition contains a justification of the need to hire a visiting teacher or researcher; a proposal to assign the visiting teacher or researcher to a teaching or research title; a description of the candidate's excellence (academic or artistic output, publications, reputation of their institutions and the periods when the candidate worked for them). The proposal must be accompanied by proof of valid habilitation of the home institution or evidence of appropriate employment, as stated in the first paragraph of this article.

In a preliminary opinion, the University Habilitation Committee also proposes which of the three titles of a university teacher or researcher should be assigned to the candidate.

Visiting teachers or visiting researchers are appointed for a period of 12 months, with the possibility of reappointment for an additional 12 months. A proposal for reappointment must be sent to the University Habilitation Committee prior to the expiry of the period for which the candidate has been appointed a visiting teacher or a visiting researcher. Upon the expiry of two consecutive periods of appointment, they may be reappointed to a such a title after 4 years.

6. Procedure for the Recognition of a Title

A title obtained outside UL can be recognized at UL in accordance to the procedure for the recognition of a title. For a title to be recognized the candidate must be in possession of a valid habilitation from another suitable university or independent higher education or research institution, or have a position at such an organization for which at least equivalent conditions are required as for a habilitation title at UL.

In the procedure for the recognition of a title obtained outside UL the provisions of these Criteria are followed as applicable.

The recognition of a title is valid for the same period of the validity of the title at the institution where it was originally obtained, but no longer than an equivalent title would be valid at UL.

Article 35

The procedure commences with the Dean stating that it is in the interest of the member institution for a candidate's title to be recognized.

On the basis of the Dean's statement the candidate files their application at the member institution responsible for the field of habilitation in which they have been appointed to a title. The application shall contain information on the procedure through which the title has, the candidate's biography and bibliography, as well as the printed versions of three of their most important works available in a world language.

The competent administrative office of the member institution which finds that the filed application or documentation is incomplete or incorrectly compiled invites the candidate to remedy the deficiencies within no more than 30 days.

If within 30 days of receiving the notification the candidate fails to supply the required information and does not request extension to the deadline, the Senate of the member institution where the procedure is taking place shall withdraw the candidate's application.

The Senate of the member institution where the procedure is underway appoints three reviewers who within a period of 30 days write their reports on the comparability of the candidate's title obtained outside UL. The reviewers also suggest which is the title that the candidate should obtain through the procedure for the recognition of a title.

The Dean of the member institution where the procedure is underway forwards to the University Habilitation Committee the reviewers' reports along with the rest of documentation.

Article 36

On the basis of the reviewers' reports, the documentation received and the generally accessible information, the Habilitation Committee takes a decision on whether to give approval for the title to be recognized.

Within 60 days from receiving the decision of the University Habilitation Committee, the competent body decides on the recognition of the title in question.

If the University Habilitation Committee has not given its approval, the Senate of the member institution where the procedure is underway withdraws the candidate's application.

Article 40
(Demonstration of Artistic Competence)

Artistic competence for a particular habilitation field is demonstrated by:

- documented public or publicly available performances of copyrighted works, public or publicly available presentations or publications of artistic works and other documented achievements that are considered to represent evidence of originality and quality in a particular artistic field

Article 41

As part of the procedure for appointment to a title, the candidate's works which are taken into consideration are those that are relevant to the field of habilitation and have been written or created and published or accepted for publication by the date of the filing of the application.

If a candidate applies for more than one title in the same field of habilitation, the applications cannot make use of the same works.

Article 42 (Important Works)

In the assessment of academic, professional and artistic competence, the candidate's important works are subject to particular evaluation. These works must be of relevance to the field of habilitation and must be published or presented in a manner that is considered to be internationally representative in academic or artistic terms in the field in which the candidate seeks to be appointed. In the fields where international impact cannot be obtained or is not suitable as a measure of quality, important works must be of significance to the national identity and culture.

The following types of works can be considered academically important:

- articles published in one of the widely spoken languages and in one of the journals indexed in SSCI or SCI with $IF > 0$ and AHCI, or in journals that are comparable in terms of quality and international recognition with the former journals, when the journals indexed in SSCI or SCI with $IF > 0$ and AHCI are not the only reliable indicator of international impact;
- academic monographs and monograph chapters published by a publishing company from the approved list of publishers;
- works that are of significance for the national identity and culture in those fields of habilitation where international impact cannot be obtained or is not suitable as a measure of quality;

A work written in a foreign language and published in a Slovene journal that is listed in the approved international citation indexes can also count as an internationally important work if the journal meets the criteria of international significance; as such it must have an international editorial board and international authors.

The following types of works can be considered artistically important:

- works of international importance or outstanding artistic output that has been presented to the public;
- works which are of significance for the national identity and culture in those fields of habilitation where international impact cannot be obtained or is not suitable as a measure of quality;
- peer-reviewed university textbooks;
- outstanding professional achievements.

Important works which the candidate wishes to have considered as such for their appointment to the titles of professor, senior research fellow, associate professor or senior research associate must state the candidate's affiliation with UL. In cases where UL has recognized a title obtained by the candidate outside UL, this requirement is applicable to works published after the recognition of the title.

In the assessment of a candidate's academic, professional and artistic competence, the quality of their output as a whole is also taken into consideration besides the quality of individual important works.

Article 43
(First and Corresponding Authorship)

In the assessment of a candidate's academic, professional and artistic competence, their first and corresponding authorship of important works are also taken into consideration.

In fields to which the category of first or corresponding author does not apply or in which it is not evidenced in the usual way (for instance, where the authors' names are given in alphabetical order), the candidate's relevant contribution to a collective work in question must be evident. Lists of such fields of habilitation are approved by the Senate of the University and can be found in the annexes to these Criteria compiled by individual member institutions.

Article 44
(Combination of Academic and Artistic Works)

For specific fields defined by the University Senate, a candidate for appointment to the title of associate professor and professor may present their academic and artistic works. In such a case, at least two thirds of the works submitted for appointment to the title of associate professor or professor must be from the academic or artistic field in which they were appointed to the title of assistant professor.

- the preparation and didactic quality of teaching aids, study material and textbooks,
- the development of laboratories or other specialized units which support the teaching process,
- teacher training supported by evidence and obtained under general teacher-training programmes at a member institution.

Article 46

When a candidate applies for appointment to a university teaching title for the first time, irrespective of the habilitation field, their teaching skills are demonstrated by means of a trial lecture, and in subsequent appointments in accordance with Article 45 of these Criteria.

If the candidate has already taught at UL, their teaching skills are demonstrated at the time of their first appointment to a university teaching title also by means of a Student Council evaluation and by the results of student questionnaires on the candidate's teaching.

Article 48 (A Candidate’s Outstanding Achievements)

A candidate’s outstanding achievements include major international awards, important works with a demonstrated high international impact or internationally recognized artistic achievements. A candidate’s outstanding achievements are subject to a specific assessment by the reviewers.

e. Quantification

Article 49 (Bibliographic Quantification)

For the purpose of appointment to a title, the significance of academic, research, artistic or professional activity is also assessed quantitatively by means of a points system. The number of points for an individual work depends on the nature of the work, the journal in which it was published, the publisher of the monograph, or the manner in which the work of art was presented.

Teaching activity is assessed quantitatively using the points system as well.
