Article 2

Article 133 of the Statutes of the University of Ljubljana (UL RS, Nos 4/17, 56/17, 56/17, 14/18, 39/18, 57/18, 66/18, 10/19, 22/19, 36/19, 47/19, 82/20, 104/20, 168/20, 54/21, 97/21, 159/21, 162/21, 163/21 – corr. and 202/21) shall be amended to read:

“If the study programme calls for the production of a written final thesis, the student shall present it in a digital format, while the relevant Member may determine that a printed form of the thesis must also be submitted. Upon submitting the thesis, the student shall enclose a written statement confirming that the thesis is the result of their independent work and that the printed copy, when such a copy exists, is identical to the digital one, grant their approval to check the digital version of the thesis with similar content detection software, and shall transfer onto the University, free of charge, non-exclusively, and without spatial or time-related restrictions, the right to reproduce the thesis, including the right to save it in a digital format, and the right to make the written thesis available to the public online via the Repository of the University of Ljubljana.

The Senate of the University shall determine the manner and rules of detecting similarities of the content of the digital format of the written thesis in order to recognise plagiarism, and the conditions for the temporary inaccessibility of the content of the written thesis.

The thesis can be accepted and evaluated only upon the fulfilment of the required conditions, which are laid down in the study programme and the relevant Member's regulations.

The printed version of the written final thesis, when such a version exists, shall be kept at the library, while the digital copy shall be kept in the Repository. Other forms of the final thesis shall be kept in an appropriate manner, in accordance with the relevant Member's regulations."
