About the University of Ljubljana

- The university has 26 members and the headquarters.
- TTO and other common services are at the headquarters of the university.
- The university is weakly integrated and its members are quite independent.
- Education and research financed by public funds are carried out on behalf of the university. (The university is a legal entity.)
- Cooperation with companies and other institutions is carried out on behalf of the individual member of the university. (The member is a legal entity.)

Financing of R&D at the university

- Financing of R&D from public funds is project-oriented.
- The university doesn't have any other stable public funds for R&D.
- Lack of own financial resources for R&D.
- Intellectual property from projects financed by public funds belongs to the university.
- Cooperation with business is based on contract projects financed by companies. Usually all results as well as IP belong to companies.
